

Carley

“I love to sing. Ask anyone who is around first thing in the morning when I celebrate when our caretakers arrive to start their day. I have a mighty voice. And the great thing is that I also know I am heard. It feels good to be understood and loved. My other donkey friends and I went through some awful times. But we all supported each other and got through that together. None of us could have imagined we would be in a wonderful place like this one. I find comfort with my friends. And I can trust that we are safe. There is nothing that could ever be greater than that. I am grateful for every day. And I love to share my gratitude whenever I can. That is why I love to sing. Then everyone can hear my message of joy.”
