

Flannigan

“One of the gifts I am most grateful for is curiosity. Maybe that sounds strange but I am always very curious about everything. Because of that, I am never bored. Sometimes, if I’m honest, it can get me into trouble. Like when I tip buckets of water over on the floor. I was simply trying to see what was in there. Oh well. There is so much to be curious about in life. Like where do leaves go? I see them tumble by our cattery and off they go. Do they ever stop? Do they end up many miles away? Did the leaf I see already come from many miles away? What do the birds see when they fly high up into the sky? What do trees think about? Do you ever wonder any of these things? Are you curious? See, there are so many things to wonder about and discover. Life will never be boring for me.”
