“I’m new at this but I wanted to give this a go. I am so grateful to be alive. There was a time I didn’t know if I could survive. But I did. My two friends, Harriet and Houdini, and I found angels that helped us out of the situation we were in. I am forever grateful for the friendship of Harriet and Houdini. We survived by sticking together. All for one and one for all. Nothing will divide the commitment and love we have for one another. We are all very different. But hard times taught us how very much alike we are. We survived because we helped lift each other up. And now, I can tell you how grateful I am to be in a very cute little body that people find irresistible. I love running fast and zooming around in circles. No one runs as fast as me. I am like the wind. I have so much ahead yet to do. I can’t wait to get to it all!” ”
